

ScienceNews

The Price of Altruism

Oren Harman

A biography of George Price follows the eccentric and reclusive scientist in his quest to explain altruism in a Darwinian world. W.W. Norton & Co., 2010, 451 p., $27.95.

Virtual Words

Jonathon Keats

Twenty-eight essays trace the births and lives (sometimes short) of blog, qubit and other science- and technology-inspired words. Oxford Univ., 2010, 177 p., $19.95.

Atlas of Science

Katy Börner

A large-format book highlights attractive and informative illustrations of a variety of science topics, and creators of the images describe how they were made. MIT, 2010, 254 p., $29.95.

Super Species

Garry Hamilton

In this cautionary tale, a journalist profiles 20 of the invasive organisms that may one day dominate the planet. Firefly, 2010, 271 p., $35.

The Field Guide to Natural Phenomena

Keith Heidorn and Ian Whitelaw

An illustrated tour of everyday events and amazing spectacles, from mirages and meteors to ball lightning. Firefly, 2010, 223 p., $24.95.